CALIFORNIAVOLUNTEERS LAUNCHES CONFERENCE SERIES TO HELP CALIFORNIA'S NONPROFITS WEATHER THE ECONOMIC DOWNTURN

"Surviving and Thriving During Tough Economic Times" Provides Tools to Strengthen California's Nonprofit Sector

SACRAMENTO, CA – Today, CaliforniaVolunteers launched a series of free, one-day conferences designed to provide nonprofits access to key training and resources to help them effectively weather and thrive during the economic downturn.

"I am approached daily by nonprofits and community-based organizations struggling to do more with less," said Karen Baker, Secretary of Service and Volunteering. "These conferences are designed to strengthen our nonprofit sector by providing tools to address common challenges and better tap one of our greatest resources – our state's volunteers."

The Surviving and Thriving series is made possible through CaliforniaVolunteers' public-private partnership with Bank of America and the Taproot Foundation. Sessions include how to effectively leverage volunteers, financial and operational tactics to weather the tough economic climate and how to better understand and communicate with nonprofit donors.

"Nonprofits are among the most important, and most vulnerable, institutions in our communities," said Janet Lamkin, California State President for Bank of America. "We are pleased to be able to partner with CaliforniaVolunteers in providing expertise to help them weather the current financial storm."

Surviving and Thriving conferences will be held in the following locations:

- April 2 Sacramento
- April 8 Orange County (Lake Forest)
- April 9 Los Angeles (Downtown)
- April 15 Rancho Cucamonga
- April 16 Fresno County (Clovis)
- April 28 Bay Area (Location TBD)
